CROPS AT THE NORTH .- Complaints are coming in from Western New York to the effect that the constant succession of showers within the past ten days or two weeks, has proved very disastrous in the wheat fields. The grain, though fully ripe, could not be cut, or if cut, could not be sufficiently dried to be placed under shelter. All that has not been cut has been borne down by the rain and badly lodged, and it is to be feared that all which was not housed before the wet weather set in, will be grown. From Connecticut, it is also stated that rye has suffered a great deal from the above causes. Potatoes, although planted in large quantitles, it is said do not promise well, in consequence of the superabundant rain .-Corn is also suffering considerably. Internal Improvements.

We published a short article recently, giving some practical illustrations of the advantages of railroads to the farmers of this country. In confirmation of what we then said, and in further illustration of our idea, we give the following from the Western Review, which contains facts that come home to our readers with

THE ADVANTAGES OF THE RAILEDAD .- One of the great advantages already derived from our Railroad, is, that our farmers are now able to sell all of their surplus corn and wheat, at remunerating prices.

The present is the first season that any consider able quantity of wheat has been sold in Williamson county for export. Heretofore our farmers only sowed what they thought would bread their families. and answer for seed for another year. And th was all they had any use for. There was no market to which they could afford to carry it. Now, under the advantage which our railroad gives, they can sell all the surplus wheat they can make, and find a ready market at their doors. Agents of Northern and Southern bouses are now in our county, going from house to house, purchasing wheat, and paying 75 cents cash, per bushel, delivered at the depot of our road, in this place. This is one of the results of our Railroad. When, before, did our farmers have such an opportunity to sell any surplus? It is computed by a very accurate and trust gentleman, who has taken pains to look into the matter, that Williamson county will regeive, the present season, for wheat sold, the sum of fifty thousand dollars! Her surplus corn crop I be worth more than that sum; and we are in-

Kansas and Slavery.

In view of the constant assertions of the Freesoil press that the majority of the people of Kansas are n favor of Freesoil, the Kansas Herald declares that the result of every election which has been the week has been the rejection of a motion by Mr. Roebuck for a censure of the Government, which and establishment of Southern institutions in Kansas. A Freesoiler who was present at the last election n Kansas, in a letter to the Chicago Times, says: "The Freesoil party have been beaten four to one by the actual settlers of the country, and that, too, for the want of voters. I must say that I regretted to see men who I supposed were honorable, high minded men, trying all manner of low, deceptive tricks to ring in illegal voters, merely to make a respectable show. In the Territory, I think, a large majority is at the present time in favor of slavery."

The first election in the Territory was in November last, for delegate to Congress. The Herald quotes the following from its files of December 1st, to show what was the issue in that election: "The election turned upon the issue of slavery and anti-slavery. It could not be kept out of the canvass-Whig and Democrat was lost sight of and that question (slavery) absorbed all others." The popular vote in this election, as shown by official returns, was, J. A. Whitfield (pro slavery) 2,258; J. A. Wakefield (Freesoil) 248; R. P. Flenniken (Freesoil) 305; J. B. Chapman (Freesoil) 16 -which is equivalent to the entire pro-slavery vote 2,258; entire Freesoil vote 569-pro slavery majority 1,689.

The next Territorial election was in March last, for members of the first and present Legislature, and in that election also the only issue was slavery vs. abolitionism. The Herald gives the aggregate vote of the entire Territory as follows: Pro-slavery vote. 5,226

Freesoil vote. 1,068 Pro-slavery majority, 4.158

Showing five-sixths of the citizens of Kansas in favor of making that Territory a slave State. The result of the second election called by Gov. Reeder, in May last, does not in any way affect the French from Malakoff Tower on the night of the fact established by these two elections, that the 15th, and all were repulsed. Also, sorties were people of Kansas are overwhelmingly in lavor of slavery. That election, the Herald shows, was not recognized by the pro-slavery party, the act calling it being regarded as a gross and intolerable assumption of executive power. They accordingly met at Shawnee Mission on the 6th of April, and passed a resolution recommending every law-abiding citizen not to attend the election. The pro-slavery men accordingly staid away from the polls, knowing, adds the Herald, that Reeder had transcended all power delegated to him by the Organic Act, and that the result of this pseudo election could in no wise invalidate the claims of the members elect to their seats in the Legislative Assembly. The tyrannical efforts of Reeder and the appeal to physical force of the Northern Freesoilers, for the purpose of crushing the popular will so clearly
